In the CBS evening news on 6-Jul-10, Katie mentioned she would interview the Israeli Prime Minister on the following night's broadcast. I went through their "Contact Us" link to ask them to do a real interview (350 character limit). As expected, the questions seemed to have been provided by the PM's public relations team to highlight what a jolly good fellow Mr Netanyahu is and avoid anything that might embarrass.

In the broadcast this evening, Katie mentioned she will be interviewing Israeli PM Netanyahu tomorrow. Please don't let this be yet another Israeli public relations offensive where no hard questions are asked. I suggest you ask:

1. You continually draw attention to Iran's alleged nuclear program but you have never declared your own or joined the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty. Will you let international inspectors into the facility at Dimona?
2. The blockade of Gaza was supposed to prevent weapons being smuggled in. If that is the case, why have crayons, pasta and hair shampoo amongst other civilian items been blocked in the past? Also, why does Israel block the export of goods from Gaza since that would promote economic growth and reduce tensions.
3. Why should the Palestinians believe that Israel is serious about peace when "settlements" continue to be built in the West Bank? A 10-month pause was announced. Why won't you make it permanent?

Thanks. Please do some real journalism.
